Figures 15 and 16 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 3, and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Marathe et al. US 4,080,009. Marathe discloses a load support system comprising an object (12) and a support member (24) for supporting the object, a hydraulic oil seal mechanism (82, 86) for preventing leakage of hydraulic oil, which is supplied into a hydraulic pocket (66) defined between slide surfaces formed on oppositely facing sides of the object and the support member, a connection means (186, 184, 68) for connecting the hydraulic pocket to a hydraulic oil supply means (79), and a hydraulic oil supply stopping means (90) for stopping supply of hydraulic oil into the hydraulic pocket. With respect to claim 3, Marathe discloses the pilot valve 90 acting as a pressure control valve as claimed. With respect to claim 4, the restrictor valve 80 of Marathe corresponds to the pressure adjusting means as claimed.

Claims 1, 3, and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Petersen US 3,994,540. Petersen discloses a load support system comprising an object (10) and a support member (36) for supporting the object, a hydraulic oil seal mechanism (40) for preventing leakage of hydraulic oil, which is supplied into a hydraulic pocket (42) defined between slide surfaces formed on oppositely facing sides of the object and the support member, a connection means (37) for connecting the hydraulic pocket to a hydraulic oil supply means (from 55), and a hydraulic oil supply stopping means (11) for stopping supply of hydraulic oil into the hydraulic pocket. With respect to claim 3, Petersen discloses the valve 11 acting as a pressure control valve as claimed. With respect to claim 4, the fluid conduits connecting the chambers correspond to the pressure adjusting means as claimed.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Petersen US 3,994,540 as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Kanegae et al. JP 2002-156043.

Kanegae discloses an improved sealing device including an elastic ring and a blocking ring. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the sealing member in the ring groove of Petersen to further include a blocking ring for the desired purpose of providing increased sealing properties as taught and suggested by Kanaegae.

Claims 2, 5, and 7-9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

As allowable subject matter has been indicated, applicant's reply must either comply with all formal requirements or specifically traverse each requirement not complied with. See 37 CFR 1.111(b) and MPEP § 707.07(a).

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
